

READY FOR MOODY AND SANKEY

THE AUDITORIUM FOR THE MEETINGS HAS BEEN COMPLETED.

LARGE AND COMMODIOUS, WITH A SEATING CAPACITY FOR TEN THOUSAND PERSONS—THE MINISTERS AND OTHERS HAVE PERFORMED GOOD WORK.

On last evening the committee appointed to examine into the condition of the "Wells Tabernacle," where the Moody and Sankey meeting is to be held, made an inspection of the same and formally accepted it. Two watchmen were appointed by the proper committee and from this time forward the building is in charge of the special committee and is now ready for occupancy. The tabernacle is a large and commodious one, capable of seating fully 10,000 people. There has never been so ample arrangements made for a large gathering as the one made for this grand meeting. One of the committee said today that central Texas was going to send many here to remain during the meeting and it was learned from another one of the committee that a good delegation was expected from western Texas.

Mr. Moody stands at the head of the list of his kind in the world, and large crowds are coming to Fort Worth to hear the foremost man of the world in his wonderful discourses on Christianity.

Mr. Sankey, who is as widely known the world over as a singer, and a preacher, with his wife and three children, and a large number of his family, are coming to Fort Worth to hear the foremost man of the world in his wonderful discourses on Christianity.

person's stupendous spectacular play, "Aladdin, Jr." and "The Millionaire." "Of the popular attractions, the most prominent on our stage you might mention Thomas W. Keene, Louis James, Marie Opera company, Olla Samuels, Marie Walworth, Law, McPherson, "The Great Russian," Hanlan's Pantomime, and Nat. C. Goodwin.

"Of course, we have a number of other plays booked, and together, when we announce our complete list, it will be of a nature that will open the eyes of the play going public of this city."

"And about the local management of the 'Lycium'?" asked the reporter.

"You may publish as coming from me that Mr. John Mahoney will continue to be in absolute control of our Memphis house. I consider Mahoney to be one of the most capable and regular men in the business, and believe I am fortunate in securing his services."

"What theaters do you control, Mr. Greenwall?" asked the reporter.

"My circuit is composed of the Grand opera house, New Orleans; Lyceum, Memphis; Vendome, Nashville; New Lyceum, Atlanta; Savannah theater, Savannah; Grand opera, St. Louis; Houston; the Greenwald theater of Fort Worth, Dallas opera house, Dallas, and the entire Texas circuit."

"The Lyceum, Memphis, and the Grand opera house, New Orleans, are the greatest productions of the age. The Lyceum, Memphis, is a superb play house, and the Grand opera house, New Orleans, is a superb play house."

A SMOCK MARRIAGE.

A Young Girl's Fate Blighted by a Villain.

Denver, Colo., April 12.—A smock marriage ceremony, the basis of a charge of seduction which is now in litigation in the West side criminal court today, wherein Willard L. Fisher is the defendant and Miss Ella Chandler the complainant.

The case is somewhat sensational, Fisher being the rather well-favored son of a wealthy ranchman, about 25 years of age, and Miss Chandler a well-to-do young lady with a strong taste of literature.

It is alleged in the complaint made by the prosecuting witness that on the afternoon of Nov. 12, last, she received a note from Fisher, at that time her adopted lover, in which he requested her to accompany him to a dance which was to be given that night at the Richmond, west of the city.

She accepted and accompanied her lover to the dance. While there that evening Fisher asked her to go with him to a neighboring farm house and marry him. He said he had arranged for a ceremony and had a minister and witnesses ready at hand. After some coaxing she consented to go, he explaining that it was proper and regular, and that their circumstances warranted the clandestine character of the event.

At the farm house Miss Chandler found the minister waiting for her and anxious to perform the ceremony. She and Fisher went into a room where they were alone, and Fisher told her that one of them was the minister, who was to perform the ceremony and that the other two were witnesses and that he was to perform the ceremony and that the other two were witnesses.

The paper in question was a marriage certificate in blank, which bore the names of the bride and groom, and which had never been filled out before. Fisher had never been married, and the certificate was in his possession.

Subsequently the certificate was in some way lost or stolen, and early in February she became convinced that Fisher had been guilty of the crime. She then went to the police and reported the matter.
